

Magha Puja the Fourfold Festival of Buddhists:

2020-2-8 / Pagoda

This festival is also known as fourfold Sangha day. According to the legendaries, the first Sangha indicates that all the 1250 Buddhists were arahants.

This festival is also known as fourfold Sangha day. According to the legendaries, the first Sangha indicates that all the 1250 Buddhists were arahants. The second Sangha says Buddha ordained all the 1250 Buddhists. Thirdly all the Buddhist followers gathered on their own to conduct Puja to honour Lord Buddha even Buddha did not invite them. Lastly, the fourth fold Sangha explains that all the 1250 Buddhist followers gathered on full moon day in the Magha month and celebrated Puja to Buddha. Hence Magha Puja has been celebrating the month of Magha.

&nbsp;

The Buddhists celebrate the Magha Puja with a lot of pomp. It is a very significant festival to the Buddhist community. Especially the festival honours the Sangha and Buddhist community. The Sangh plays an important role in embodies the tradition, culture and the rules of Buddhist life and protects the principles of Dhamma. On the day of Magha Puja, the devotees meet jointly and read the teachings of Lord Buddha. Later they discuss the theme of the of Dhammapada. In the middle of the discussion, the senior devotees or monks deliver their speeches about the importance of Dhammapada and Sangh. Everyone wants to lead their lives in the service of Lord Buddha. Later these discussions, the devotees exchange the gifts among them and lighting the oil lamps.